

Seeds of Strength
Encourages
S.M.A.R.T Grant Applications

Specific: Grant applicants should have a specific program, specific target population, and specific goal(s) in mind.

Measurable: Applicants should clearly explain how they will evaluate their program's success in meeting the stated goals.

Achievable: The organization can demonstrate it has the capability, both human and financial, to achieve the program's goals.

Realistic: The program is within the scope of the organization's mission and can be realistically accomplished.

Transformative: The program will make a demonstrable difference in the community, the organization, and/or the lives of the organization's targeted population.